This sample

One category, sauces and spreads, in five sheets: Makers, Who makes for whom, Brands, Products and Places. Every field we hold is a column, but the position.

What is masked

On every row the street address, PIN, licence numbers, LEI and register status are masked (•••••): they come with the plan. The first rows of each sheet show every other field; on the other rows the fields that name a maker are masked too. Each sheet's note names its masked columns, and each sheet keeps its own row order.

What is in it

Only links we can show in public: the owner printed on the pack, or named by a public register, or by two sellers who agree, at a premises with its PIN printed. No row is a person's own name, an office, or a link seen on one product only.

Counts

Every count reads at least: we count only the products we have read, and owners from strong links only. The rows shown whole count only the links we show publicly.

Positions

The full data places each premises at its PIN area's centre, not the plant. No position is in this sample.

The full data

Every maker, brand, product and place we hold, with every field, in lists you can export and in files by category group.

Makers

The makers of sauces and spreads we can show. The first rows are the largest we can show whole. A maker is a company; its premises here is its largest we can show in the district where it makes the most sauces and spreads. On every row these are masked (•••••), they come with the plan: address as printed; PIN; licences printed on the pack; register licence numbers; register status; LEI. The first 6 rows show every other field. On the other 14 rows these are masked too: maker id; maker; premises id; register type; sold on. Every column is in the workbook.
